

PARCELS POST
BILL AGREED ONSenate Committee Finally Comes
to an Understanding.

CAUSED A LENGTHY DISPUTE

Provision Threshed Out by Senators Bourne and Bristow and Was Only Slightly Changed From Original Plan Submitted by the Former.
Country Divided Into Eight Zones.Washington, July 20.—After a dispute of more than two months the senate committee on postoffices and post roads reached an agreement on the postoffice appropriation bill and the measures will be reported on Monday.The parcels post provision, the principal matter in dispute, was finally threshed out by Senator Bourne, the author of the original provision in the bill, and Senator Bristow of Kansas, former assistant postmaster general.
The result was a compromise.Senators Bristow and Bourne, sitting as a subcommittee on the parcels post, agreed on a modification of Senator Bourne's plan. It retained Senator Bourne's scheme for a division of the country into zones within which rates for the transmission of parcels shall be the same. Senator Bristow believed that the Bourne plan would place rates so low that the project would be found impracticable. To meet his objections eight zones were outlined, instead of six as originally planned, and the rates proposed by Senator Bourne were slightly increased. The maximum rate remains at 12 cents, the rate of the postal union.

Zones and Rates of Postage.

Senators Bourne and Bristow agreed upon the parcels post zones as follows:

- First zone, length fifty miles; rate 5 cents for the first pound, 3 cents for each additional pound.
- Second zone, length 150 miles; rate 6 and 4 cents.
- Third zone, length 300 miles; rate 7
and 5 cents.
- Fourth zone, length 600 miles; rate 8 and 6 cents.
- Fifth zone, length 1,000 miles; rate 9 and 7 cents.
- Sixth zone, length 1,400 miles; rate, 10 and 9 cents.
- Seventh zone, length 1,800 miles; rate, 12 cents per pound straight.
- Eighth zone, length, over 1,800 miles; rate, 12 cents per pound straight. Maximum packages, eleven pounds.

Senator Bourne originally proposed six zones to range in length from fifty to 2,000 miles. The idea of shortening the zones is that it would be of benefit to the smaller merchants and that it would also increase the average income of the system and make it self-sustaining. Another provision is made for local delivery, fixing a charge of 5 cents for the first pound and 1 cent for each additional pound, or 15 cents for an eleven-pound package. The proposal of Senator Bourne to combine the third and fourth class mails into one class is eliminated from the bill.
As completed by the senate committee the bill carries about $362,000,000, or an increase of about $4,000,000 over the house provisions.

CATLIN MAKES STATEMENT

Says Action of Committee on Elections Is Fraud.Washington, July 20.—Representative Theron E. Catlin of Missouri, in a statement here, characterized as a "monumental fraud" the action of the house committee on elections, in voting to recommend that he be deprived of his seat in the house. The committee decided by a vote of 6 to 3 to report that Mr. Catlin had not been properly elected, because it was disclosed that his relatives had spent approximately $13,000 in his campaign, contrary to the state laws."The action of the Democratic members of the committee on elections in declaring that Patrick Gill is entitled to my seat, violates every principle of political decency and is a travesty on elementary justice," said Representative Catlin.

BODY WEIGHTED WITH GOLD

Corpse of Murdered Miner Found in Pond in California.Oroville, Cal., July 20.—Pocketsful of gold nuggets, for which it is believed he was murdered, weighted down the body of a man found near here in dredging a pond. His head was crushed and his throat cut. Further search revealed a pack burro, carrying a complete prospector's outfit, in a nearby pit.The burro's head also was crushed.
The police believe the man was killed for his "cleanup," which, the mur-derer, frightened away by the ap-
in the pockets.

Convicted Priest Under Bonds.

New York, July 20.—John Devan of Jackson, Neb., who claims to be a priest and was found guilty of having followed and annoyed twelve-year-old Catherine Kavanagh, was placed under bonds of $1,000 to keep the peace.
An appeal was demanded.

CLARENCE R. EDWARDS.

Advancement to Brigadier General Opposed by Senate.

ARMY PROMOTIONS OPPOSED

Senators Object to Advancement of Edwards and Wetherspoon.Washington, July 20.—Opposition has developed in the senate to the confirmation of Clarence R. Edwards as brigadier general and W. W. Wetherspoon as major general in the army.
It is understood that in the case of General Edwards, who until recently was chief of the bureau of insular affairs, many senators believe he has had too little experience in the line of the army.In the case of General Wetherspoon objection is that his advancement to a major generalship would carry him over the heads of several other officers.DETECTIVES PUT ON ROSENTHAL CASEDistrict Attorney Secures Aid From Private Agency.New York, July 20.—Private detectives were brought into the Rosenthal murder case by District Attorney Whitman. They were engaged by a committee of citizens who shared the prosecutor's evident dissatisfaction with the lack of results achieved by the police in tracing the slayers of the gambler who was shot after making charges of police partnership with the gambling fraternity.In connection with the bringing in of these outside agencies of investigation, attention was called to what were declared to be lamentable omissions by the police in guarding against the escape of Rosenthal's slayers Monday night and lack of properly directed activity since.Neither Mr. Whitman nor Assemblyman Aaron Levy, counsel for the two men, would discuss what Libby and Shapiro had revealed at their examination. Mr. Levy said he and Mr.
Whitman had agreed to give out no further information."They have told me things that I did not know of before," he said, "If Mr. Whitman desires to hear my clients he will learn of disclosures which will make the public gasp when they are published."At the questioning of the prisoners by the district attorney no members of the police department were present.
With the party, however, were two private detectives.

HEAT KILLED MANY BABIES

Nearly Four Hundred Succumbed to Late Hot Spell.Chicago, July 20.—Three hundred and sixty-two babies were killed by the recent hot spell in Chicago, according to Dr. C. St. Claire Drake of the municipal bureau of vital statistics.Dr. Drake is having statistics prepared showing the part of the city where the greatest number of infants died, and he will recommend to Health Commissioner Young that nurses be sent out to make a house census in these districts in the hope of saving the lives of sick infants.The statistics so far prepared show that the babies that died during the hot spell all succumbed to complaints which are preventable.

CROWDS GATHER AT SHRINE

St. Anne Novena Attracts Lame, Halt and Blind.Chicago, July 20.—The annual gathering of the lame, halt and blind at the shrine of St. Anne has begun at the California Avenue church, where wonderful cures are said to have been made in past years.The Novena services began in the morning and when the doors of the church were opened there was a crowd of persons, some supported on cane, others on crutches, and on the arms of friends, and more riding in wheel chairs, present sufficient to almost fill the place of worship.

PANAMA CANALEngland Differs From Us as to Its Management.

ARBITRATION IS SUGGESTED.

Chairmen of National Political Committees Are Noted For Their Bad Memories—Taft Campaign Managers Say They Are Not Worried Over Threats of Certain Electors.

By ARTHUR W. DUNN.

Washington, July 20.—[Special.]— President Taft ought to be well pleased that the arbitration treaties failed in the senate last winter. It would be real uncomfortable now if Great Britain should insist that the differences between this country and England over the manner in which we manage the canal which we have cut through the Isthmus should be submitted to arbitration, and that is what could have been done in case the treaties had been ratified as drawn. The interpretation of the Hay-Pauncefote treaty relative to the construction of the canal could not have been considered purely an American question, but it would have to go to arbitration. As the matter stands now, our country can put its own interpretation on that canal treaty.

Foreigners Antagonistic.

It has already been suggested that the differences be sent to The Hague tribunal, but right there is where the whole trouble about arbitration arises.
The United States is concerned almost wholly in disputes which affect American questions—this canal toll rate, for instance—and all European governments, all foreign governments, are naturally against our contentions upon every American question, and more particularly upon the subject of canal rates. Nearly every controversy with a foreign country which we have is over something purely American. "Enter into no foreign entanglements," warned Washington in his farewell address. It is still good, wholesome advice.

They Beat Us at Diplomacy.

From the very beginning of our government the English have beaten us in every diplomatic struggle—notably the first boundary dispute, the old fifty-fourth affair and only lately in the settlement of the Alaskan boundary dispute. In that case the United States surrendered a line and a harbor that had been in possession of the United States ever since that time in possession of Russia as long as Russia had claims in America. The Hay-Pauncefote treaty was a notable success on the part of this country, substituting a worse treaty for the bad Clayton-Bulwer treaty. It is because our people have been worsted in diplomatic bargains that they will be ready to uphold any government which will "back up" on a question affecting our right to run and operate the Panama canal as our own and for the benefit of our people.

Their Bad Memories.

Chairmen of national committees are noted for bad memories. They would never be selected for chairmen if they could not readily forget who contributed large sums to national campaigns and also forget how these sums were expended. Cal Brice, once senator from Ohio and also a chairman of a national committee, at one time remarked, "I anticipate that every chairman forgets as soon as possible all about the money received and how it was paid out." That was back in 1894, when they proposed to overhaul campaign expenditures in the senate. So it was not surprising that Mr. Cortel-lo could not tell who paid in vast amounts for the campaign fund of 1904. Other chairmen are just as forgetful.

Berger's Inquiry.

"Is this bill a gold brick?" was the final inquiry of Victor Berger, the Socialist member of the house, after a number of questions had been asked about the anti-injunction bill which passed the house recently."It is worse than a gold brick," was the reply of Congressman Sterling of Illinois, who had been pointing out objections to it.

But It Does Worry Them.

The managers of the Taft campaign assert very often that they are not concerned about the report that many of the Republican electors will not vote for Taft even if they are elected this fall. But they are worried, just the same, for there is too much talk along that line for comfort. The claim of Senator Dixon that at least 100 Republican electors in what are regarded as almost sure Republican states will vote for Roosevelt cannot help but be disconcerting the Taft men.

They Want to Go Home.

"I would like to go home and get acquainted with my constituents," was the remark of one member of the house. "I have scarcely seen them in five years.""Do you prefer spending the summer in Washington to Tennessee?" was a question asked Congressman Sims."That's downright cruelty," replied the Tennesseean. "I have spent five summers here, and it looks as if we might have another here next year."

REVOLT BREWINGStory of Battle and Proclamation of Sultan Suggestive.London, July 20.—The mystery surrounding the reported attack upon the Dardanelles by Italian torpedo boats and their repulse with the loss of two vessels and the damage of six others, coupled with the proclamation of the sultan of Turkey exhorting the troops to remain loyal, suggests the possibility that another revolution is brewing in Constantinople.The Italian government denies knowledge of an attack by its torpedo boats on the Dardanelles, and while independent dispatches confirm the fact that a cannonade of some description took place, all reports concerning an Italian attack and of the damage inflicted upon the Italian torpedo boats come from official Turkish sources and are not confirmed by press dispatches.The suggestion is made that the bombardment was engineered by the Turkish government as a means of influencing the Turks, by reminding them that the enemy was at the doors of the capital, thus counteracting a military revolution and assisting in the solution of the political crisis.

Steffens Maintains Claims on Stand in Bribery Trial.Los Angeles, July 20.—Lincoln Steffens and District Attorney Fredericks, the two men who claimed to have brought about the termination of the McNamara case, faced each other as antagonists for nearly four hours in the bribery trial of Clarence S. Darrow.Time after time, Prosecutor Fredericks sought to have the witness say that the culmination of the McNamara case was caused by the arrest of Bert Franklin for bribery and as often Steffens insisted that all parties concerned in the defense had agreed to the settlement before the bribery allegations were made public.

Mrs. Morrow Acquitted of Murder of Husband.Chicago, July 20.—Mrs. Rena B.
Morrow was found not guilty of the murder of her husband, Charles B.
Morrow, an inventor, by a jury in Judge Kersten's court. The verdict was returned after the jury had deliberated three hours and ten minutes.The verdict is said to have been reached by the jury on the third ballot.Half crying and half laughing with excitement, Mrs. Morrow shouted:
"I knew it would be this way; I knew it would be this way."She rose from her chair and after thanking each member of the jury for the verdict she left the court room accompanied by several friends.

Dirt Flying at Panama.

seven-eighths of the excavation work

Canal Record, 22,053,815 cubic yards or less than one-eighth of the total amount of earth and rock to be taken out of the canal route remained to be excavated. At the rate the great steam shovels are working, this certainly can be done in time to have the superdreadnought Arkansas, during her standardizing trials. Her speed of 22,045 knots is decided by naval experts aboard to be the fastest ever made by any battleship in the world carrying twelve-inch guns.The Arkansas a month ago made 21,493 knots an hour, a record-breaking performance at that time. A strike in the fire room during the full speed runs interfered somewhat with the operation of the Wyoming and even better speed might have been made according to officials but for this the column, commanded by General yon at Dolores by nearly 1,000 Yaqui Indians and that of 500 rebels, less than 200 returned to Madera in safety.

MAKE LAW MORE EFFECTIVE

Report of Stanley Committee States That Attorney General and His Subordinates Should Not Have Exclusive Right to Bring Suits Against Combinations in Restraint of Trade.Washington, July 20.—At a meeting which lasted until midnight the Democratic members of the Stanley steel committee reached final conclusions on nearly every important phase of their report to congress. If the recommendations of the committee are enacted into law, any firm or corporation suffering injury to its property as a result of the action of any industrial trust, may bring suit against that trust under the Sherman antitrust law. This will be the most important recommendation of the committee, with the single exception of the divorcement of railroad and steamship lines from corporations mining iron and other ores.Here is section 10 of the bill amending the Sherman anti-trust law, which the Stanley committee recommends for immediate enactment:"Any person injured or threatened with injury to business or property by any other person or corporation declared to be unlawful by this act shall be entitled to bring suit in equity in any district court of the United States to restrain such person or corporation from doing such injury."

Provision Makes Law Effective.

The report states that the attorney general of the United States and his subordinates should not have exclusive jurisdiction in bringing suits against combinations in restraint of trade, but that the injured parties themselves should have access to the courts.In the opinion of several of the Democratic members of the committee this is the most important change in the Sherman law ever proposed.
Representative A. O. Stanley, chairman of the committee, and other lawyers who have examined the report, believe that this amendment will make the law effective in the way that its originators intended.The anti-trust bill prepared by the committee goes much further than this, however, and deals directly with the question of the "reasonableness" of the alleged restraint of trade. This question arose through the decision of the United States supreme court in the Standard Oil and tobacco cases, in which the court made a distinction between "reasonable and unreasonable" restraint of trade. This section of the Stanley bill is so drafted that, in the opinion of the committee, it will remove all doubt as to the intent of the law on that particular point.

Burden of Proof on Defense.

In every instance it places the defendant corporation under the necessity of proving such "reasonableness" in restraint of trade as would not be injurious to any competitor. The presumption in case of a suit under the Sherman law is that the restraint of trade is unreasonable, according to the terms of the Stanley bill.The committee report in this connection refers to the action of the supreme court in ordering the dissolution of the Standard Oil and American Tobacco companies. The committee takes the view that these so-called dissolutions were not effective and have been of practically no benefit to the independent tobacco or oil com-peters or to the public.The recommendations of the committee, besides extending the powers of the executive department of the government and the rights of the individual in dealing with industrial corporations, comprise a bill making important amendments to the interstate commerce act.

PRICES OF CLOTH TO SOAR

Small Wool Clip Is Leading Factor in the Advance.New York, July 20.—The price of clothes is going to be advanced next year. This increased tax on the already high cost of living is clearly indicated, merchants say, by the prices named by leading producers of cloth who have lifted the prices of 1913 season from 7½ to 20 cents a yard above those which prevailed last year when the values for the past spring season were announced.Cloth prices are higher for the next spring season, agents say, because of conditions over which the manufacturers have no control. They say that the most important element that brought about the advance is that the domestic wool clip this year is about 30,000,000 pounds smaller than a year ago.

Spent No Money in Campaign.

Washington, July 20.—Senator Willam E. Borah of Idaho, enjoys the distinction of having conducted a campaign for renomination in a statewide primary without the expenditure of a cent. He filed his sworn statement with the secretary of the senate, covering the primary that is to take place in Idaho July 30, declaring that he had neither received nor spent any money, or made any pledges.

Sam Gordon opened his campaign in St. Paul with the charges that Ramsey county politics are dominated by the brewery interests and his address was a bitter condemnation of the bosses.

Denver is about to pass an ordinance whereby the strap hanger will only pay half fare. That seems reasonable both for the company and the man compelled to stand while riding in a street car.

The San Francisco city council are considering a proposition to pass an anti-treating ordinance and the closing of saloons at 6 P. M. If the habit of treating is prohibited there are those who will favor the closing of saloons altogether.

Harvey Grimmer, for some time secretary of the democratic state central committee, is considering the matter of filing for secretary of state. Harvey is one of the popular young men of St. Cloud and has a wide acquaintance and one of the most clever politicians in the democratic party of the state.

Rumor has it that Frank Day and F. B. Lynch will not work in double harness during the coming campaign. The former is jealously watching the rising popularity of Mr. Lynch and does not care to see him carry off all the laurels in November. The split is said to come over the proposed conference to select a list of democrats for state officers to which Day is opposed. It is quite probable if Lynch favors the conference it will be held.

Could Help Himself.
It was the anniversary of his young son's birthday, and the proud father, who felt that he ought to give the lad something, stepped into a bookseller's shop.

"Well, here is a very excellent one on 'Self Help!'"

NEW PLATING PROCESS.
Ingenuous Invention Deposits Metal on Wood or Glass.
An ingenious invention which is illimitable in its applications has been perfected by two Italian chemists, according to Chambers' Journal. Briefly described, it comprises a means of depositing metals of any character upon any insoluble surface by electrical energy. The results so far achieved promise to revolutionize the whole art of electroplating and decoration, as well as many other branches of industry. China, wood, glass, celluloid, paper and other substances which have hitherto been regarded as beyond the electroplater's craft are coated as easily as the metals generally associated with this process. What is more, the plating is everlasting. It enters into the fabric treated so that it becomes an integral part of the article. Thus, for instance, if an attempt is made to chip the plating from a glass vase the glass will come away with its metal coating.
There is a Wedgwood tea service on exhibition which shines with the true luster of polished silver. The outer surface is so well covered with this metallic armor that the whole resembles a silver set. It is only when the interior is examined and the pottery beneath is observed that one realizes that the silver had been deposited upon the external surface. What is more, the outer sheathing is not a thin film, but a solid sheet of metal, which can be made of any thickness and capable of being worked by the engraver. The authorities have expressed their willingness to apply the hall mark to articles so mounted. The process is likely to supersede the present process of silver mounting cut glass and other articles. Instead of the metallic adornment being attached by means of plaster of paris, which is simply a makeshift, the metal deposited upon the glass becomes part and parcel of the article.
The process has extended the electroplater's art to a considerable degree. Any metal and its alloys can be electrically deposited upon some other metal as a base. Zinc, tin and lead can be deposited as easily as silver or nickel. This fact is of vital interest to a host of industries, as is borne out by the action of one of the largest builders of naval vessels, who has adopted the process for the zinc and tin plating or galvanizing of the steel parts of the boats. The deposit is not so thin, as in ordinary galvanizing, that a pin scratch will penetrate the protective skin, but is a solid sheathing of metal associated with the other metal beneath.
The possibility of being able to plate wooden articles seems so remote as to be fantastic, yet it is as efficiently accomplished by the Marino process as if copper were being plated. So far as china plating is concerned, the article must be in the unglazed or biscuit condition and is first coated with a chemical agent. In the same manner glass which is to be treated must first be roughened by sand blasting to remove the polish and to enable the metal to secure a grip. Another point is that the deposit, no matter what the character of the base, may subsequently be oxidized, lacquered, etc., in just the same way as ordinary electro work.

The Fireproof Building.
Nearly all modern industrial enterprises are housed in buildings that are to some extent fireproof. The question may reasonably be asked, What constitutes a fireproof building? Nothing is more fireproof than a furnace, and yet the decomposition of its contents by fire is its chief use. Buildings must therefore not only be made of nonflammable material, but they must be so arranged that fire when started can be confined to one room or to the smallest possible space. With this object in view they should be equipped with self closing metal doors and windows with wire glass or metal shutters. They should have automatic fire alarms, and above all an adequate sprinkler system. Steel framing must be inclosed and protected with some material such as brick, tile, terra cotta or concrete. Under these conditions, with insurance on the contents, a manufacturing enterprise is reasonably safe.—Engineering Magazine.

The Way of the Arab.
A traveler in Egypt writes: "In a camel caravan we once met in the desert there was a beast with a gigantic load of cases towering above and on both sides of him. On the left flank of this mountain of cases rode a small Arab slung in a sling. The reason was obvious—the camel engineers had miscalculated in loading and had put too much on the off side, thus giving the camel a heavy list to starboard. Arab-like, being too lazy to repack, they had corrected the error by using a light Arab as trimming ballast."

How the Condor is Caught.
Many birds cannot fly straight up. They must rise at a gentle incline. They must get upward motion before their wings can get full effect of the air. It is said that the mode of taking the condor is to build a pen, say, four or fifty feet in diameter and six feet high and put a carcass in the middle of it. The condor alights, but cannot again rise at an angle which will take him over the fence. Many heavy bodied, short winged ducks rise from the water at so small an angle that they must use both feet and wings for thirty or forty feet in order to get upward motion enough to give effectiveness to their wings by coming in contact with larger masses of still air.

MINES AND MINING NOTES OF INTEREST

County Board of Equalization Raises Evaluation of the Kennedy and Other Mines

NEW MINING COMPANY ON RANGE

Cuyuna Range Townsite Co. Increases Its Capital Stock from $50,000 to $100,000

The county board of equalization in session at the court house has taken up the question of mine valuation and an increased valuation has been placed on those properties which actually have shafts down.

The Adams mine south of Deerwood near Oreland, has been assessed at $10,000.

The Barrows mine of the Virginia Mining Co., a subsidiary of the M. A. Hanna Co., of Cleveland, Ohio, has been assessed at $15,000.

The Cuyuna-Mille Lacs Co. mine in section 3, township 46, range 29, has been assessed at $10,000.

The Iron Mountain Mining Co.'s property in section 33, township 47, range 29, has been assessed at $5,000.

The Kennedy mine of the Rogers Brown Ore Co., situated at Cuyuna, was usually assessed at $20,000. This year the assessor in that township returned it at $15,000. The board of equalization raised it to $50,000.

The Meacham mine, near Crosby, was assessed at $25,000, as were also the Armour No. 1 mine, the Armour No. 2 mine and the Thompson mine of the Inland Steel Co.

The Vermes-Cuyuna Mining and Development Co., a corporation chartered to do business at Phoenix, Arizona, and capitalized at $1,000,000 has received permission to do business in Minnesota.

The Cuyuna Range Townsite Co., which platted and controls the First and Second additions to the village of Deerwood, has filed an amendment to its articles of incorporation, increasing its capital stock from $50,000 to $100,000. C. C. Adams, of Deerwood, is its president and R. C. Adams, of Brainerd, is secretary.

Issuing Instructions to Campers,

A suggestion made to State Forester W. T. Cox by Ranger J. P. Saunders, relative to giving instructions to berry-pickers, campers, etc., has been adopted by the Minnesota Forest Service and reads:

"Caution. Berry-pickers, campers, hunters and fisherman. Look out for starting forest fires. Always before making camp fire, clear a space of all combustible matter for at least ten feet in diameter. Extinguish your camp fire before leaving it. Try to put out any fire that you find burning wild, but if you cannot handle it report it as soon as possible to some forest officer."

BRAINERD-CUYUNA MINING COMPANY

Holds Its First Meeting This Morning and Has An Election of Officers

ITS PRESIDENT IS F. A. FARRAR

Company Has Taken an Option on the Holland Land Near the Rosko Farm

The Brainerd-Cuyuna Mining Company held its first meeting this morning at Brainerd and completed its organization, electing as president, F. A. Farrar, of Brainerd; vice president, Henry Nelson, of Duluth and secretary and treasurer, Edmond Ingalls, of Duluth.

The company has taken an option on the Holland land consisting of 138 acres which adjoins the Rosko farm, upon which a large body of high grade ore has been recently shown up. The company has started drilling and expects to show up a large mine.

A block of shares will be sold at half the par value and a section of 1,000 of these shares has been reserved for prospective Brainerd purchasers. No doubt the issue will be greatly oversubscribed, as the prospects are good for opening a large mine, and if this can be done, it means much towards making Brainerd a greater city.

A mine within the city limits, such as the Brainerd-Cuyuna Mining company contemplates, is of far greater importance to the city, as a whole, than numerous mines outside the city. Brainerd gets the entire benefit from the establishment of the Brainerd-Cuyuna mine, both in wages paid out to residents and in taxes paid to the city.

East Indian Magic.

A traveler tells a story of Indian magic. The juggler was a Malay, who stroked with his fingers the blade of a long knife or creese. The observer saw water fall drop by drop from the blade, which became flaccid, like a strip of India rubber. Thrown on the ground, it bounced about, but was a knife blade again when lifted by the juggler. An examination showed that there was no water on the mat on which the observer saw the drops falling.

The Life of a File.

One cannot discard a file whenever it has lost its first keenness, but there comes a time, much sooner than is usually supposed, when an old file does not pay. It is not difficult to calculate when this time has come. Say a man receives 25 cents an hour and is using a file that costs 25 cents. Whenever the use of an old file takes that man half as long again to do a piece of work as a new file would take, then in three hours' work with an old file the price of a new file has been lost. The time to throw away the old file has come before that stage was reached.—Blacksmith and Wheelwright.

ATTACKS EBERHART ADMINISTRATION

L. C. Spooner, of Morris, Scores Executive as Man Who Does Nothing but Talk

CHARGES GROSS EXTRAVAGANCE

Taxes Highest in Minnesota of Almost Any State in the Union
—No Management Shown

An audience small in numbers but earnest and thoughtful in the attention it paid to the speaker, heard L. C. Spooner, of Morris, discuss the points on which he was making his campaign for the republican nomination for governor of Minnesota.

Music was furnished by members of the Brainerd City band and after playing a few selections, the curtain rose, disclosing Mr. Spooner and his friend, Charles E. Cain. The latter introduced Mr. Spooner to the audience and said he had known him 15 or more years at Morris, that he was a man who fulfilled his promises, that he was a broad-minded and charitable man and not as some supposed, a man of brains and no heart at all.

Mr. Spooner spoke slowly and weighed his every word. He convinced his auditors as being a man who was dead in earnest and when he took up his charges against the governor he could not have been more careful in his statements than if he had addressed his utterances to a jury and had a judge presiding over him.

"This campaign," said Mr. Spooner, "is of interest to every citizen and especially so to the taxpayers. I make no claims to being an orator. If talking were the principal requisites for a governor, there would be no occasion for a campaign. We could let it go by default, for the present incumbent talks all the year around without doing anything important."

He referred to the address which Governor Eberhart made in Brainerd at the time of the December meeting of the Northern Minnesota Development association and he, as well as every man in the opera house heard the governor make his pledge regarding reapportionment and the promise to call a special session for that purpose should the legislature fail to pass such an act.

The publication by the Minneapolis Journal on March 15, 1912, of its now famous editorial entitled, "A Chance for a Business Governor" led Mr. Spooner's friends to advocate him for governor and at a home mass meeting they urged him to make the campaign. Mr. Spooner referred to methods in vogue in the state administration which would not be tolerated in a mercantile business. It was not practical, he claimed, for the auditor of a state to also be the administrator of a department. The auditing department should be separate from that of the public domain including mining and timber properties, game and fish resources, etc.

Much of the extravagance he claimed existed under the Eberhart administration could be speedily reduced. Mr. Spooner believed in the simplification and coordination of business matters, the abolition of useless commissions, bureaus and sub-bureaus. The Minneapolis Journal editorial was in a way an impression of Mr. Spooner's activities and his friends asserted it was a Spooner photograph that read through the lines. Consequently, they urged Mr. Spooner to make the campaign for governor.

"There should be more business and less politics in the affairs of state," said the man from Morris. "The northern part of Minnesota stands with equity and perfect justice and as a matter of right for reapportionment. It is entitled to equal and fair representation. It is entitled to a better administration of the public domain. Better immigration laws are needed to induce people to come into the state and settle up its broad confines. These, my friends, are all business propositions."

"The question of taxation is a business proposition. An honest and efficient expenditure of state's moneys with a dollar earning every cent of its purchasing power, is a business proposition."

"Are you aware of the cost of transacting the state's affairs? Governor Eberhart in an address at Mankato declared his administration the most economical in years. Governor Eberhart claimed it had cost but 24 cents per capita to administer the business of the state in all its relations." Mr. Spooner thought he must have gambled on the lack of intelligence of his audience. Mr. Spooner asserted that last year was a most extravagant one and that the direct taxes alone amounted to $1.24 for every man, woman and child in Minnesota. "It was simply a matter of Mr. Eberhart forgetting the $1.00 and remembering the 24c. Instead of being 24c per capita, it was very nearly $7. Of course this includes the cost of running the university, the money appropriated for agricultural and other schools."

"Between the appropriations made in 1901 and 1911 there is a difference of $8,000,000, an increase which causes one to inquire why it was justified and what large improvements exist to show for it. Some say drainage. The land will take care of it. It's just simply extravagance, incompetency, unbusiness-like methods, politics, grafting, politics or something worse. It is either a lack of good management or something worse and is thought so by many," said Mr. Spooner.

"I have seen an appointive officer of the state drawing $2,500 a year and puddling around in real estate, claiming to make $3,000 on such a transaction while absenting himself two weeks from his duties." Mr. Spooner quoted the St. Paul Pioneer Press as asserting that favored employees at the state house were being shifted around and drawing practically double salaries. "All these things creep in," said the speaker, "and our taxes increase."

Lack of a competent purchasing agency was shown in the supplies bought by various departments, of which one department would pay a higher price than the other for the very same kind of an article.

When on the appropriation committee Mr. Spooner preserved all the memoranda which came his way and the bills, which according to custom, had generally been destroyed at the end of a session, were in Mr. Spooner's hands and made interesting backing to some of his arguments.

He then took up drainage matters. The drainage commission, said Mr. Spooner, was personified by Mr. Ralph, a gentleman he would be glad to discharge just as soon as he was made governor. The state drainage board appeared before the appropriation committee demanding $250,000 to protect the state against contracted drainage jobs. Reports made by the state auditor upon inquiry of Mr. Spooner showed that the state drainage board had on hand $513,000 unexpended moneys when it asked for $250,000 more.

Mr. Spooner told of an incident where Governor Eberhart's personal letter, he claimed, was attached to the official bill for the maintenance of the state capitol. It is fixed by law that $60,000 a year be appropriated for its maintenance. There was then $120,000 available. The new bill called for $135,000 additional and would have made $225,000 of a fund. In the bill were three little legislative jokers which would have operated to increase the regular maintenance appropriation from $60,000 annually to $195,000 annually, said Mr. Spooner.

"The people should have an overhauling of state affairs," said the speaker. All books and vouchers should be examined and a change in business methods instituted, and our taxes will not amount to so much. The time is at hand for an awakening of the people.

"The idea of a governor traveling about the state and the United States talking consolidated rural schools as contradistinguished from staying on the job is not entitled to serious consideration."

He referred to the governor's contingent fund and Mr. Spooner claimed the governor's private secretary had asked the appropriation committee to have the contingent fund raised from $10,000 to $14,000 a year. Some of this contingent fund, said Mr. Spooner, had paid for the governor's press clipping bills.

After thoroughly grid-ironing and roasting Governor Eberhart and leaving him sizzling on the grate, Mr. Spooner spoke of the tonnage tax, two cent fare law and told of prison reforms in Minnesota, his work establishing the industrial schools and the separation of boys from girl delinquents. "The state prison of Minnesota," said Mr. Spooner in conclusion, "has been changed from a tax eating concern to a profit earning institution." Hearty applause greeted his remarks.

BARROWS MINE IMPROVEMENTS

More Drills are Added in the Clear-

wood During Week

The south range of the Cuyuna iron range has been prominent during the week in the amount of exploration work carried on and in the improvements projected on mining properties. At the Barrows mine of the Virginia Mining Co., a subsidiary of the M. A. Hanna Co., of Cleveland, Ohio, and situated six miles south of Brainerd, there is now under construction a powerhouse of large dimensions and a "dry" or change house. The powerhouse will contain the engines, generators, air compressor, hoist and other machinery. The No. 2 shaft has been successfully completed and is now lined with cement which was poured down into tubes and forced back of the original wood shaft. The No. 1 shaft is being similarly reinforced and made a cement shaft. The Barrows mine expects to ship some ore this season.

The Northern Pacific railway is relaying with 90 pound steel its line from Staples to Brainerd and also, it is said, contemplates putting in more sidetracks at Brainerd. A steam shovel is working near Deerwood and this crew has already reduced two hills on the route between Brainerd and Deerwood, taking away ten feet of surface from about a mile stretch at each hill and thus reducing severe gradients and increasing the haulage capacity of engines and making it of inestimable benefit for the rapid dispatch of ore trains on the Lake Superior division. Much ground is being excavated at Klondike and it appears that this point will receive many side tracks.

Of interest to Duluth people is the Brown and Waite property situated in part of section 18, township 46, range 29. Under the supervision of Daniel Waite a 50 foot test shaft was sunk in a month's time, bottoming in good ore. This is a record for quick sinking. The land is owned by David Williams, vice president of the First National bank of Duluth; Will C. Brown and Daniel Waite.

Exploration work on the south range includes the drill work of the Brainerd-Cuyuna Mining Co., recently incorporated, which has set a drill east of South Sixth street within the city limits and near the little creek at the Baker property. This land is believed to be rich in mineral and a continuation of the rich ore deposits found by Judge G. W. Holland along South 13th street to the east.

The Stowell Exploration Co. has placed a second drill in the Clearwater district south of Deerwood. Options have been taken on the farms of David Archibald, Abe Christensen and others in the vicinity. The Henry Geyer farm of 140 acres has been sold to St. Paul people.

Louis Rouchleau, of Minneapolis, is said to have placed a drill in section 3-137-27, Watertown. Strom & Slyter of Minneapolis are drilling section 26-138-27. These drills are located on the extreme north range. John Martin is drilling near Lenox for John Wahl and G. A. Rydberg, of Duluth. A drill is at work on the Porter farm a mile southeast of Crow Wing station.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free. F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. Sold by druggists, etc. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

Curly Hair.

Curly hair is a constitutional, hereditary phenomenon. The curly hair curls because it is flat. Straight hair is cylindrical. Being flat, the hair has a natural tendency to assume a spiral shape. Cutting has no effect, as the cause of the flatness lies in the shape of the follicle. Hair issuing from a slanting, crooked follicle is bound to be flattened and twisted.

Guns Heard Ninety-seven Miles.

My house is on a high hill near Godalming, and as I sat reading one after noon I heard, or rather felt, a long vibrating boom several times repeated.

I thought it must be a motor van maneuvering behind the house, but found nothing there. Then I guessed what it might be and forthwith wrote to the chief gunnery officer of H. M. S.

Orion to make sure. Through the very kind courtesy of this gentleman I am able to state for certain that the discharge of the Orion's guns was distinctly audible ninety-seven statute miles from the ship, the sound taking somewhere about eleven minutes to travel the distance.—Letter in London

The Wash Boiler.

A faucet on the wash boiler is said to be an excellent thing. Instead of lifting out the clothes after boiling them open the faucet and let the boiling suds drain into a tub or pail. The clothes may be more easily removed to the rinsing tub after the boiling water has been drawn off. A plumber will be able to fit a faucet to a boiler at small expense.

FIRE KILLED TIMBER.

More Durable For Some Purposes Than That From Green Trees.

Large bodies of fire killed timber in the west are now cut for fenceposts, says the Scientific American. The demand for durable posts by ranchmen has hitherto been met by the use of red cedar (juniperus), but its supply is now almost completely exhausted. In a good many localities. The average life of a red cedar post is about twenty years, while other species last only from three to ten years. Fire killed lodgepole pine when properly treated will last equally as long as red cedar.

The forest service has demonstrated that dead timber treated with preservatives may be utilized at a moderate cost when compared with red cedar posts, which are expensive. Enormous quantities of dead timber in the west are being disposed of each year, which will considerably reduce the drain upon the forests. The removal of this material leads to the improvement of conditions in the forests, because it lessens the fire hazard and insures quicker and better crops of young trees.

In extensive burns in the west fire killed timber is often the only kind available. Its chief uses are for stulls lagging, fuel, house logs, lumber, mine props and railroad ties. In proximity to a mine or to a spur of a railroad dead wood has been used for many years for mine timbers and for cross ties. For mine props all species are used. In Colorado one mine alone uses approximately 4,500,000 board feet of dead timber every year. There are a great many mining camps that use dead timber exclusively because of its lightness, durability, stiffness, all due principally to its better seasoning.

For many purposes fire killed timber is preferred to green timber because it is thoroughly seasoned and is in excellent condition for preservative treatment, as the moisture has completely evaporated, which gives it more durability than green timber. It also renders it lighter, so that transportation charges are less. In parts of Colorado burned timber of all kinds is made into ties, some of the material having been burned over fifty years ago. This timber is still standing on the stump and is said to be almost as hard as flint and very durable. The species used are red fir, yellow pine, lodgepole pine, limber pine, Engelmann spruce and blue spruce. It is asserted that dry ties last in many cases longer than green ties. They hold a spike better, and a plate does not cut into the wood so seriously as it does in the case of a green tie.

AUTOMOBILE WASHER.

Self Closing, Button Operated, Hose Nozzle of Soft Rubber.

A button operated self closing nozzle particularly designed for hose used for washing automobiles is a recent invention that offers simple and perfect control of the water.

The main portion of the nozzle is made of aluminum, but it is provided with a soft rubber discharging end

HOSE NOZZLE FOR WASHING AUTOS.

which may be compressed by the fingers to discharge the water in the form of a spray. The soft rubber also prevents scratching of any part of the automobile body with which it may come in contact. The nozzle contains a shut off valve, which is opened to allow the water to flow by pressing a button arranged in the side.
